

.....

The birds they sang at break of day

"Start again" I heard them say

Don't dwell on what has passed away

Or what is yet to be

...

Ring the bells that still can ring

Forget your perfect offering

There is a crack in everything

That's how the light gets in

Quoted from 'Anthem' by Leonard Cohen